

Box Lantern Project

Lanterns have been used functionally for light since antiquity. Their purpose was to protect the light source, which was often a wick in oil or candle.

Today, lanterns are often electrical with solar sources of power, and they have taken on a decorative purpose that plays an important role in celebrations for many cultures.

Even Finland has a history of decorative Lanterns!

Take the creative and cultural tradition of lantern making and combine it with a tech-based lesson in digital design and fabrication.
